

FRENCH VERBS REVENIR - VENIR - RENTRE WITH COUNTRIES

Grammar topic: French Verbs - Revenir, Venir, Rentrer + DE + Countries

Curriculum: French Level A2

The French verbs "revenir," "venir," and "rentrer" are used to express different forms of movement or arrival.

When followed by prepositions like "de," "du," or "des," they indicate the origin or departure point of the action.

Let's take a look at how to use them with countries:

The verbs "revenir," "venir," and "rentrer" follow a pattern when it comes to knowing which form of DE to use.

DE	Coming back, coming from, or returning home from a feminine country
DU	Coming back, coming from, or returning home from a masculine country

DES

Coming back, coming from, or returning home from a plural

Revenir

This verb means "to come back" or "to return." When used with prepositions, it indicates coming back from a specific location.

DE	Je reviens de France.	I'm coming back from France.
DU	Nous revenons du Canada.	We're coming back from Canada.
DES	Ils reviennent des Pays-Bas.	They're coming back from the Netherlands.

Venir

This verb means "to come." When used with prepositions, it indicates the origin or departure point of the action.

DE	Je viens d'Espagne.	I come from Spain.
DU	Nous venons du Japon.	We come from Japan.
DES	Ils viennent des Bahamas.	They come from the Bahamas.

Rentrer

This verb means "to go back home" or "to return home." When used with prepositions, it indicates going back home from a specific location.

DE	Tu rentres d'Angleterre?	You're back (home) from England?
DU	Vous rentrez du Mexique?	You're back (home) from Mexico?
DES	Je rentre des États- Unis.	I'm back (home) from the United States.

Pay attention to the prepositions: "de," "du," and "des" are used to indicate the origin or departure point. Choose the appropriate preposition based on the country that follows the verb.

Practice with different countries and locations: To become familiar with the usage, practice forming sentences using different countries.

SIGN UP FOR MY NEWSLETTER FOR MORE HANDY FRENCH TIPS AND TRICKS EVERY WEEK